Kodol For Indigestion

Our Guarantee Coupon

When you take Kodol for indigestion, you will find it is the only preparation that completely digests all classes of food, and that is what you need when you have indigestion or stomach trouble. Nothing will act so promptly and thoroughly as Kodol. It will get you right at the trouble and do the very work itself for the stomach by digesting the food that you eat and that is Kodol. It is pleasant to take and it is sold by the Red Cross Drug Store.

Ninety-Two Years

Mrs. Frankie Bowman died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Inman, near Williamsburg, Friday morning, just past her ninety-second birthday. The funeral services were conducted the next day at the old Darrell family burying ground, in Anderson county, by Rev. J. A. Sims, where the remains were laid at rest.

Mrs. Bowman was a remarkable woman, full of life and energy until the very last day. She died a quiet death, after a long and active life. She was active at sewing until the day preceding her death. She is survived by five sons and two daughters—W. H. Bowman, of Indiana, James H. and Jerry Bowman, of Lexington, J. G. Bowman, of Woodford county, Jacob Bowman, of Ashbrook, in Anderson county. Mrs. Lucy Deringer, of Duganville, and Mrs. Robert Inman of Washington county. All were present at the funeral excepting the first-named.

Mrs. Bowman leaves about forty-two grandchildren and thirty-six great-grandchildren—among the latter, Mrs. W. H. Wells, of Duganville. Her husband died in 1881, and for twenty years she has made her home with Mrs. Inman—Hardsburg Democrat.

Tired nerves, with that "no ambition" feeling that is commonly felt in spring or early summer, can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. One will absolutely note a changed feeling within 48 hours after beginning to take the Restorative. The bowels get sluggish in the winter-time, the circulation often slows up the kidneys are inactive and even the heart in many cases grows decidedly weaker. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is recognized everywhere as a genuine tonic to these vital organs. It builds up and strengthens the worn-out weakened nerves; it sharpens the falling appetite, and universally aids digestion. It always quickly brings renewed strength, life and vigor and ambition. Try it and be convinced. Sold by Red Cross Drug Store.

Unexplored Cave Found.

Tompkinsville, Ky., May 9.—Considerable excitement prevails in this section over the discovery that a cave, near here, is inhabited. The discovery was made by persons passing near seeing smoke coming out of the mouth of the cave, and from an investigation started.

A large posse of men with guns and clubs ventured into the cavern to find what they supposed to be a moon-billie still lurking. They found no still, but to their great surprise found tracks of a man, woman and child and other things, which indicated that they were living in the cave. They made an exhaustive search for the occupants, but failed to find them.

Many differ in opinion as to who the strangers can be, some believing it is some member of the "night rider gang" who is leaving this State en route to Tennessee with his family to avoid arrest and while en route was overtaken by the cold weather and was camping with his wife and children in the cave.

Others think it probable the child has been kidnapped in some city and is being secreted until a large reward is offered, when the little one will be produced. All kind of rumors are afloat, and the women and children in the community are afraid to go to a near-by neighbors without an escort.

When you think of indigestion think of Kodol, for it is without doubt the only preparation that completely digests all classes of food, and that is what you need when you have indigestion or stomach trouble. Nothing will act so promptly and thoroughly as Kodol. It will get you right at the trouble and do the very work itself for the stomach by digesting the food that you eat and that is Kodol. It is pleasant to take and it is sold by the Red Cross Drug Store.

The Good Roads Amendment.

What are you doing for the good roads amendment to the constitution, which is to be voted on next fall? Remember the question of National Government aid for good roads is being agitated and it is probable that a general law on the subject will be passed by Congress in the near future. But the law will most certainly limit its benefits to those States which are prepared to co-operate with the National Government in the work. Millions of dollars may be appropriated by the National Government for road improvement, but Kentucky will get none of it unless we have prepared ourselves to co-operate with the Government. Many of the States already have laws authorizing State aid for good roads, and such States will get the money which Uncle Sam appropriates. Shall Kentucky be left out? She will be, unless the proposed amendment to the constitution is adopted. It may not be unwise for farmers over the State take an interest in the matter. Come now to talk the matter up with your neighbors and show them the importance of voting for the amendment. Farmers are the ones who will benefit most by the good roads—Farmers Home Journal.

Buried Treasure.

Charles A. Wordon, of Dayton, Ohio, spent part of last week in Washington county making excavations for supposed buried treasure, but it is not known with what success, as he left these parts without giving out any information on that point. He made an opening on the hillside on the farm of W. H. Milburn, where a large rock of the soapstone variety seems to have, in the long ago, been planted some two feet in the ground by human hands and is standing in a perpendicular position, the part above ground being about two and one-half feet high and being in the form of a long square. The edges of this stone appear to have been chiseled smoothly with a deep notch cut in the top center. A small rock stood near upon which was carved a hand with the index finger pointing to the large stone upon which was cut some small letters, and the supposition has long been that this stone was put there by Indians or some eccentric white man to indicate the place of hidden treasure.

It seems that a darkey by the name of George Yares of that locality, wandered up north and told a white man for whom he worked at the strange rock. In the summer of 1906 the two came to the spot, but for some reason left without working the claim. Some said it was because they could not agree upon a division of the spoils, if any should be found. Later on this white man told Wordon of the stone and the location, so Wordon put in his appearance and after finding the spot and getting permission to work went to digging which caused considerable excitement in that community, but it is said that his last work was done at night, and therefore with what results is not known. He had with him what seemed to be a very fine instrument called a Jacob's rod which he said cost $200. With this he claims that he can locate gold, silver and iron on the same principle that a water-finder finds water with a peach-tree switch, and after experimenting with this rod he began digging at a distance of about 20 feet from the large rock. The fact that Wordon made excavations only at the one point and left without disturbing the rock led many to believe that he found the treasure at that point where the excavation was made. Wordon claims to have found with the aid of an instrument, $17,000 in gold, down in Mississippi that was hidden there during the civil war. It is said that a lot of people living in the locality where Wordon has been digging are now kicking themselves because they let a stranger come in and get away, as they believe, with a lot of gold, and that some of the natives will now dig at the stone to see what they can find.—Hardsburg Herald.

Hon. John W. Lewis For Circuit Judge.

It was shown by the election last November that the Eleventh Judicial District is Republican, as well as the Fifteenth Senatorial. Why should not this district, then, have a Republican judge on the bench even as we have a Republican in the Senate, to say nothing of our "own Tom" in the House? If it is good to have friends at court? It may be advantageous to have a judge there, too. Though the court to which Lamb added were not counts of judiciously use the suggestion has its application in spheres less circumscribed and it has lost none of its force by age.

Notwithstanding the election of a circuit judge is yet a bit in the future, it is not too soon to be "casting an anchor to windward." There may be some one already in the field. Therefore the other day, when Hon. John W. Lewis, of Springfield, was interviewed and visited our new plant he made the race for Circuit Judge and he told The Leader he would do so. This announcement will be received with genuine pleasure by the Republicans throughout the district and by hundreds of independent Democrats who no longer find trouble in voting for men of real merit and distinguished fitness for place, under whatsoever device their names appear at the polling booths.

Mr. Lewis will make an ideal candidate, the more so because he has not sought the position but yielded to the demand of his fellow-citizens who know he will make most upright judge. The darkness surrounding the band eyes of justice that the turning of the scale so nicely poised be not seen, through fear or favor, will be such that the pro-methan heat of passion and prejudice may not return nor the sunlight of favor break in upon.

Mr. Lewis is an accomplished scholar, a ripe lawyer, and will bring to the bench the experience of many years of successful practice at the bar. He was a new member in the 44th Congress of the United States but assigned at once to a committee of the greatest dignity in the House and of vast importance—the Committee on Judiciary—where he took front rank with the ablest lawyers in the House.

It is any one who say doubt as to the virtue of Foley's Kidney Cure; they need only refer to Mr. Alvin H. Stimpson, of Williamstown, Conn., who, after almost losing hope of recovery, on account of the failure of so many remedies, finally tried Foley's Kidney Cure, which he says was "just the thing" for him, as four bottles cured him completely. He is now entirely well and free from all the suffering incident to all kidney trouble. Sold by the Red Cross Drug Store.

Miss Alice Lloyd

We have read the first of a series of papers written by the young lady, whose name appears above, on the tobacco situation in Kentucky and notwithstanding its verbosity, which she apologizes for in the outset, have read it as closely as one can, and while critically, we hope not hypercritically so, and have not found that she shows much light on the situation notwithstanding its length and the fact that she calls upon all the great dailies in Louisville and Lexington and on the country press to publish what she has to say.

She writes from the seclusion of her rural home, where some miles from Dover, as she tells us, where she learned of the oppression of tobacco growers by the Trust and where they, the growers, first suffered the onsets of freedom. Even as Joan of Arc in the little village of Domremy on the frontiers, on the great highway between France and Germany, watching the passing of armed troops, caught the martial spirit of the age, dreamed dreams and conceived a special calling for a deliverance, does Miss Lloyd appear to think she has a special mission to perform in bringing about peace and harmony between the tobacco growers and the tobacco smokers.

She does not, in so many words, justify the night riders, but when their wrongful acts are commented on by the press she coolly asks that the cause be considered, as if any cause could justify such effects. When night riders are abroad on their unlawful errands shooting up towns, destroying property, burning houses and committing deeds that only the most unallowable can do, she asks that instead of condoning such wrongs we deal with the original issue.

Miss Lloyd writes, well, but not convincingly, because of her inane bluntness of her rhetoric and obscurity of her suggestion. But as Col. Bath would say, the paper under consideration "is writ with great dignity of expression and emphasis of judgment."

She claims that in her country it costs from 6 to 7 cents per pound to raise tobacco, while good Marion County farmers have told us that at 10 cents a pound a Marion County man can make more money than on anything else he can raise. If there, therefore, a Marion County man wants to raise tobacco at that price whose business is it, if he does so?—Marion County Leader.

Serious Accident

A serious accident happened on the Springfield pike near the residence of Mr. J. B. McGinnis Friday when Misses Katie Mullen, Ella and Marie Downey, of Louisville, and a colored woman driving for them, were thrown from a survey, breaking the right arm of Miss Mullen above the wrist and also breaking the right arm of the colored woman in two places. The young ladies are visiting Miss Mullen's sister, Mrs. J. J. Sweeney, at Greenbrier, and had driven out the pike to see Federal Hill, the historic home of the Rowans, where "My Old Kentucky Home" was written, and just beyond the place were turning around, upsetting the vehicle and throwing them out. The horse ran some distance and did considerable injury to the carriage. Dr. McKay was called and dressed the wounds and the party returned to Greenbrier and the injured members are improving.—Nelson Standard.

Mrs. S. Joyce, 180 S. 11th St., Cincinnati, N. H., writes: "A box a year ago I bought two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It cured me of a severe case of kidney trouble of several years standing. It certainly is a grand good medicine, and I heartily recommend it." Sold by the Red Cross Drug Store.

Old Colored Woman Dead.

The Lord called Charity Hope of Jensonson Friday morning at 2 a.m. She had been helpless three weeks. She was a Christian and had lived a Christian life. She was united in marriage to George Hope when she was very young. She leaves three sons and two daughters, eight grand children and two great grandchildren to survive her, also a host of friends both white and colored. She was born July 11, 1817, died May 6, 1908, age 90 years, 9 months, 8 days. When she was united in the church she said the Lord is my shepherd I shall not want. When she died she told all that was with her good bye that she was going to a home of high.

Ring Found.

Mrs. Andrew Cunningham had restored to her the other day a valuable diamond ring which had been missing for several years. About eight years ago Mrs. Cunningham missed the ring from her home and although a thorough search was made no trace of the piece of jewelry could be found. A colored servant girl in the employ of the family at the time was strongly suspected of the theft, but in the absence of any proof nothing was done. The girl knowing however that she was under sus-
and has remained away until now.

The strange part of the story came to light one day last week when Scott Humphrey a colored man who was doing some work about the Cunningham premises reported that he had found a ring hidden under a rock in the garden. The ring which proved to be the missing article was restored to its owner. The supposition is that the woman when she discovered she was under suspicion became alarmed and thought to conceal the evidence of her guilt.

Closing Exercises of High School

Final examinations are being held this week at the High School. They mark the close of another successful year in the school's history—successful both in point of attendance and development. Teachers and pupils are ready to enjoy a well earned vacation. The regular commencement exercises will be held at the Opera House next Tuesday night, May 19. These exercises vary from the usual in-tertainment of declamations and dialogues, has been prepared and the performance promises to equal the high standard established in past years. The music, entirely vocal, will be especially attractive as the singers have worked diligently for the past several weeks in preparation. Miss Watts has arranged to have solos, duets, quartets and choruses. At the same time, the scholarship medals in the 1st and 2nd years High School, will be given. On Wednesday following, the school will have its annual picnic.

A great many people imagine they have heart trouble when the fact is that the whole trouble lies in the stomach. The pain in the side around the region of the heart is not necessarily heart trouble. We suggest that you start with the stomach and whenever you feel a depression after eating or whenever your food seems to accumulate take Kodol it will not be very long until all these "heart pains" will disappear. Take Kodol now until you know you know you are right again. "He's not" say doubt about what it will do and you will find the truth of this statement verified after you have used Kodol for a few weeks. It is sold here by the Red Cross Drug Store.
